

Liceo P. Candiani

PROGETTO GREENSCHOOL

Endangered species

Aldo the polar bear

Hi! my name is Aldo and I'm a Polar bear. I wanted to share with you the story of how I ended up here in this reserve.

We have to go back a few months, when everything started: it was a regular day, and I was going to hunt with my mom and my brothers, when suddenly I saw a seal, and I really wanted to play with her!

So I started running after her, but when I realised that I had no chance to catch her, because she was way faster and bigger than me... it was too late! I was on a block of ice floating in the middle of the ocean and I couldn't see my mom anymore.

I was completely in panic and I had no idea what to do.

After a few days without food I finally reached earth and a group of researchers rescued me and gave me a new home where I am completely safe.

Sometimes I miss my family, but I know that I am not in danger anymore here and that maybe we will meet again.

Characteristics

- Habitat: Arctic regions (Canada, Alaska, Russia, Greenland and Norway)
- Diet: seals
- How many left:
between 20,000 and 31,000

Fabrizio the dolphin

My name is Fabrizio Bubbles and I'm a dolphin!
Recently I've noticed I don't see many of my friends around anymore. I even saw my friend being taken away by big boats.
I was looking for my friend, but nobody was around! I kept searching and I found many plastic bags that were covering the corpse of my friend Phelipe, I was so mad and scared, but sadly I'm just a dolphin and I can't do anything to help my friends!
My last hope is that humans realise that they need to take better decisions about my home.

Characteristics

- Habitat: open oceans, coastal waters that include bays and inlets, river basins, certain inland seas, gulfs, and in channels
- Diet: fish, squid, shrimps, jellyfish and octopuses
- How many left: out of 41 species, five species and six subspecies are endangered

Thank You
For Your Attention

